Dr. Joseph Robbins of Quincy was nominated by Gen. E. B. Hamilton of that place. A seconding speech was made by Lawrence Y. Sherman of Macomb. The roll of counties was then called. As it proceeded it became evident that Mr. Taner had not overestimated his following. When the last county was called, and be-fore the secretary had an opportunity to an-

Mr. Northcott, having received a majority of all the votes cast, was declared the nominee for lieutenant governor. The announce ment was received with prolonged cheering. On motion of Congressman Reeve, seconded by Mr. Hanchett, the nomination of Mr. Northcott was declared unanimous.

A motion was then made to adjourn until 10 o'clock today. This was greeted with cries of "No! No!" from all parts of the room, and the motion was voted down. Nominations for secretary of state were then declared in order. There were a few moments of confusion, and then there was a motion to adjourn until 9 o'clock this morn ng. This was hurriedly put, and at 5:45 the convention was declared adjourned.

Quite a Lively Debate on the Finan Yesterday Afternoon.

Two reports were offered from the resolutions committee. The majority platform, Although the naval appropriation bill was which was adopted, commends President Cleveland's administration, especially as to nominally before the Senate yesterday afternoon, there was scarcely a word spoken its foreign policy; and urges aid to the Cuin the long debate that followed the adoption of the Marquette statue resolution that related to the increase of the navy. "The platform of the national convention, was delivered by Mr. Platt, as proxy, for the Vermont Senator. This speech was worked into the Record at the last moment, just before adjournment, with a brief introduction by Mr. Platt. Mr. Teller's Speech.

Senator Teller took the floor at about 2:15 o'clock to speak in reply to Mr. Sherman's remarks of the day before, and for over an hour he occupied the attention of the Senate with one of the most important speecnes of the session, in which he de clared that if the republican party should adopt the gold standard at its next convention he would cease to act with that party. He said he should despise himself, holding the views he did, if he should lift his hand to but in recovery lift his hand to put in power any man who from the executive chamber could use the slightest influence to continue the existing

His speech was almost wholly addressed.

Christendom."

His speech was almost wholly addressed to Mr. Sherman, and was a mixture of tariff and finance. He accused Mr. Sherman of inconsistency in the matter of the proposed to accept when Mr. Gorman declined to accept when Mr. Gorman suggested it Tuesday. Turning to the Record of the 25th of February, when Mr. Sherman spoke on the necessity for more revenue, he quoted from the speech of the Senator from Ohio to show that at that time he declared that he would vote for any tax, whether proposed by a democrat, populist or republican, which would supply sufficient revenue for the support of the government, and he would vote for a tax on tea or coffee in order to meet the existing deficiency.

Alluding to the effort of Mr. Morrill to read him and some of his western colleagues out of the republican party for refusing to vote to take up the tariff bill, Mr. Teller said: "I am a republican in the truest and best sense. I am a republican who believes in the old tenets, the old faiths. I helped to create the republican party. I was in it before the Senator from Vermont, and I did not go into it as he did, out of a dying and decaying party. I left the strong, aggressive democratic evening, in order to avoid a bolt, it was agreed to admit all contestants, giving left the strong, aggressive democratic forces when I entered the republican party them but half a vote per individual. were as warm supporters as any of the Ohioan. The money plank will probably be strongly in favor of silver. The delegates were named in caucus. They will be J. F. Mahoney, Raiph Cameron, William Christy, F. L. Stoddard, Burt Dunlap and J. A. Zabriskie. All gave their first choice as McKinlay, though Christy is routled. Mr. Sherman took the floor at the coned various points of his criticisms, at times going into the technical details of a debate on tariff and finance. He defended himself from the charge of inconsistency in the matter of the tea and coffee tax by saying that he did not propose to allow the other side of the chamber to designate what the duties should be to meet the growing deficiency. While he would vote very cheerfully to put a tax on tea, coffee and sugar, yet he would not make the whole burden of increased taxation fall upon the people who drink tea and coffee Mr. Gorman interrupted Mr. Sherman to lraw him out further on this point, and draw him out further on this point, and the debate became more general. Mr. Teller replied at some length to Mr. Sherman, and finally Mr. Hale took the floor to call attention to the fact that there was a traction, possibly memory, that the naval appropriation bull was before the Senate, and hoped something would be said apropos of that measure. Mr. Mills wanted to make speech on the financial question, but as he was not ready to go on, it being then ; o'clock, he moved an adjournment. He yielded, however, to give way to the ever ready Mr. Stewart, who spoke for some time of the "crime of '73," and gave notice that in case any one of the gold standard advocates should attempt to justify the criminal method, as he called it, by which silver was demonetized, or to argue that the gold standard is beneficial to the community, he would answer his arguments at

Mr. Stewart's Menace. He closed with this menace:

"All that is required to induce me to make a full and complete speech on the silver question, though it may take weeks, is an inauguration of debate by some gold standard man in the Senate." Necessarily this shut off any further comments on the financial problem, and the Senate adjourned at very nearly 6 o'clock.

FOR THE GOLD STANDARD. Action Taken by the Pennsylvania

At the afternoon session of the Pennsylvania democratic convention yesterday at Allentown, Pa., Chairman James of the resolutions committee read the platform as agreed upon, and moved its adoption. After declaring its adherence to the undamental principles of democracy, the platform adds: "We are in favor of a firm, unvarying maintenance of the gold standard While we favor the most liberal use of silver consistent with the enforcement of a gold Otey to Retain His Seat and Thorpe standard, we are absolutely opposed to the free coinage of silver and to the compul-sory purchase of silver bullion by the gov-

The administration of President Cleveland was indorsed and the name of Robert E. Pattison was presented as the chiece of the democracy of Pounsylvania for the presilency, and the delegates chosen by the convention were instructed to vote for him. There was some opposition to the adoption of the unit rule, but it was carried on a viva voce vois. The convention then proceeded to work of preparing its ticket, the result being as follows: Congressmen-at-large-John M. Braden, Washington county; Benjamin C. Potts, Delaware county.

Delaware county.

Delegates-at-large-William F. Harrity, Philadelphia; Robert E. Wright, Lehigh;
J. Henry Cochran, Lycoming; Charles A.
Fagan, Allegheny Dr. John Todd, Montgomery; Benjamin F. Meyers, Dauphin; John S. Rilling, Erie, and Joseph T. Lenahan, Luzerne.
All were elected by acclamation. When the delegates-at-large were mentioned State Chairman R. E. Wright referred to the action of the Berks county delegates in the ninth congressional district conference insisting upon naming both the dele gates from the district to the national convention, ignoring the rights of his county of Lehigh. Mr. Wright said if he permit-ted his election as a delegate-at-large he would be an accessory to the injustice wrought against his county by force of superior numbers.

The convention refused to allow Mr.
Wright to withdraw, and elected him unanimously, along with the others. The convention adjourned.

Meeting of the Single Tax Club. The Single Tax Club held its regular meeting last night in Typographical Temple, with President Siddons in the chair. An interesting address was delivered by Dr. Mary E. Morrison, who declared that equal rights and opportunities were denied under private ownership of land. Congressman Maguire explained that the effects in New Zealand of the operation of the single-tax system were toward the substantial increase of that country's prosperity.

Where Splints Are Made. From the Los Angeles Journal.

Down below the Santa Fe roundhouse, near the railroad tracks, is a factory unlike any other in the United States, or, for that matter, anywhere else. It makes splints for the use of surgeons in bandaging broken limbs, from a peculiar fibrous material that possesses especial adaptability for the purpose. This material is the wood of the yucca palm, which grows plentifully on the trimmed into logs about ten or twelve feet long, and from ten incnes upward in di-ameter, and shipped to the factory, where they are stripped of bark and carefully in-spected. The logs are sawed up into suit-able lengths, a length put into a lathe and a long knife is pressed against it, taking off a shaving about one-eighth of an inch thick, more or less, according to the use to be made of it. This long shaving or board is then cut into smaller pieces and put away in racks to dry, for the trees are cut up when green, it being impossible to soften them after they are dried.

The First Armored Vessel. From the Engineering and Mining Journal.

A French author who has been investigating the naval records of France and Italy claims that the armored warship is by no means the novelty it is generally supposed. Records preserved in the arsenal at Nice show that in 1530 an armored ship was built at that port; its name was Santa Ara, and it was one of the squadron sent by the Emperor Charles V against Tunis. The Santa Ana was an armored galley, with numerous guns, and carried a fighting crew Sullivan as a member of the national ecutive committee from the state was lopted. the ship by bronze bolts, and was probably says he, 'If you are rested, marring the ship by bronze bolts, and was probably sufficient to resist the musket balls and the l'Il take my seat again.' VIRGINIA ELECTION CASES.

to Be Given That of McKenney. Representative DeArmond of Missouri, from elections committee No. 3, yesterday submitted to the House the conclusions of that committee on the contested election case of J. Hampton Hoge vs. Peter J. Oley from the sixth Virginia district. Accord-ing to the returns, the report says, con-testee received 2,346 more votes than contestant. The record contains but a few pages of testimony, and it would be impossible to give to such testimony any effect by which the seat in controversy could be awarded to the contestant, or could be taken from the contestee. Contestant has asked that the case be opened for the taking of further testimony, but he has failed to show any sufficient reason for such course. Not only is there no apparent reason for making an exception in this case to a fair and long-established statutory rule fixing the time for the taking of testimony in contested election cases, but from contestant's own showing it appears that if the case were opened the result of the contest would not be different. The committee therefore unanimously recommends the adoption of a resolution declaring that

Mr. Otey was duly elected. Representative Walker of Virginia, from elections committee No. 3, made a report on the contested election case of R. T. Thorpe vs. W. R. McKenney, from the fourth Virginia district. The notice of con-test in the test in this case, says the report, charges fraud and misconduct on the part of the election of officers at nearly every precinct in the district. The committee is of the opinion that the entire vote at the second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth wards of Petersburg, at the precincts of Church roads, in Dinwiddie county; Jeffress store, in Nottoway county; Columbian Grove, Moherrin, and Pleasant Grove, in Lunenhurg county; burg county, where the names of the can didates were alternated upon the ballots and where "all the elections officers were democrats and other fraudulent and il-legal acts are shown," should be rejected. These precincts gave contestee 1,356 majority over contestant, and rejecting these t elects contestant by a majority of 57i. The report then points out other alleged irregularities, and says: "Add to these evidences of fraud and conspiracy the many proofs of error, fraud and irregularity at the various precincts, and it is clear that the contestant (Thorpe) was duly elected by a majority of the legal votes cast at said election and is entitled to the seat."

Representatives DeArmond, Codding, C. K. Bell and W. A. Jones submit a minority report in this case, in which they say:
"Not being able to accept as our own or to indorse the report (of the majority) the undersigned members respectfully submit our conclusions, upon due considerations of the record in the case, which is that by his own showing (contestee having introduced no testimory) the contestant is entitled to be admitted to the House as the Representative from the fourth district of Virginia. We are glad to be able to date further that we find nothing in the record which tends to cast any re flection upon sither party to the contest. Upon the other hand, we regret that, in a number of instances, the wholesome pro-vision of the Virginia statutes, requiring the appointment, when possible, of the judges of elections from more than one party, was ignored. In large part, however, what we consider improper or wrong in the conduct of election officers, judged fairly by the record to which they are not parties and in which, with very few exceptions, they do not appear as witnesses may not unreasonably be attributed to erroneous views respecting the require-ments of the new election law of Virginia in operation for the first time in the elec-tion of November, 1894, rather than to any settled purpose to violate the law or to

An optimist is a man who, when he is seasick, can get some amusement out of the misery of his fellow-passengers. It is a bad time directly after breakfast for a housekeeper to ask the members of her family what she shall order from the provision dealer for that day's dinner. The man who invites trouble generally has his invitation promptly accepted.
